*Use a separate tool if you find you are not using the features that you learn:
 Most of Photoshop's capabilities can be performed through creative camera tools that the user controls and often accesses through a keyboard or mouse. Using creative camera tools allows you to quickly and easily manipulate images in ways that may be difficult in Photoshop. For example, many of the creative camera tools offer so-called smart filtering, which automatically adjusts the image based on what's in front of it. However, if you are using Photoshop for anything more than creating simple, say, line-art portraits, there's a good chance you will need to manipulate the photo in Photoshop. For those who want a combination of the two worlds, there are many programs with built-in creative camera tools such as Photoshop's Quick Fix or Lightroom's Adjustment Layer. It's possible to use a graphic design package (or other programs) to create your own page layouts for your images, but until you learn to use Photoshop's keyboard shortcuts and layout — which we explain in this book — you will be using Photoshop more to help you organize and improve your images than it will be used to design your pages.

Photoshop is a powerful tool because it has the capability to build any photograph into any level of complexity. The complete control and the ability to automate an image-editing session make Photoshop a fantastic tool for professionals working with images to create the perfect picture for a print ad, brochure, or Web page. But because it's not a task-based tool, you'll want to be very familiar with Photoshop's tools, layers, and features to manage the complexity of images in a way that allows you to focus more on the content than on the process. The types of features in Photoshop include The multi-layered editing capability of Photoshop, illustrated in Figure 1-1: A drawing area with tools and layers of your own creation An optional ruler and a grid with onscreen guides A full-color pallet with tools and other editing features

The control and automation options, especially on the Action panels, the work flow, and the Layers palette, which allows you to create as many layers as necessary, as explained in detail in this chapter. Figure 1-2 shows you what a typical layer selection from the Layers palette looks like. By

The view panel provides a number of useful tools for the designer while the window panel contains one function, hiding the view so that you can work uninterrupted. The Overview Panels The three panels on the left are useful for evaluating your work, going through a range of images or making some changes. While the main

Grabbert continues to impress Local youngster Shayne Grabbert has continued to impress in his initial season of AFL as he continued his consistency for the Oakleigh Chargers, including playing arguably his best game last weekend against VFL powerhouse West Coast

Eagles. With 20 disposals and four tackles in the Chargers' convincing win over Port Melbourne, both Darebin stars was in solid form as the Chargers look to continue their current run of form, including six straight wins. "Shayne has been one of the standout kids this year," Oakleigh Chargers General Manager Steve Hill said. "He was really good against Port Melbourne and continues to get better every week. “He’s certainly one of our best forwards and is someone we count on going forward.” Grabbert, who is a product of Oakleigh Junior Football Club, is a midfielder/defender who topped the Oakleigh best and fairest last season. The 18-year-old has burst on to the scene in 2016, averaging 17 disposals a game and regularly being brought into the game to get a feel of the game. After a huge game for the Oakleigh in their 53 point win over Stirling Swans on Saturday, Grabbert was rewarded with an AFL Rising Star nomination for the Round 1 win over the Eagles. “Just getting up in the contest and getting around the ground,” Grabbert said. “It’s big for myself and the team as

-emotional and more clearly a business one (even if the two are often intertwined). We have an opportunity to make the public aware of what we do. I do not think that many people know what a scrapbooker does. This certainly isn't the first time this has happened and I'm sure it won't be the last time. It's part of the reason I wanted to create this blog and this group. However, I think we need to be careful that we don't all think this was a ploy to get our scrapbookers to give us their email addresses so that we can spam them! ? I think, all in all, that I had a very positive, and very exciting, experience. I hope that I get to meet some of you in person, if we all live close enough. Our next meeting will be August 9th at the PDN store in Nampa. It starts at 6pm. Hope to see some of you there! ? Hi Lea! I want to tell you how sorry I am that I haven't been getting back to you with questions. I'm going to try to make it a point to respond to your questions. I've been on vacation and getting back into the swing of things has been a little difficult. Hopefully I can get caught up soon ? I wanted to let you know that there will be a Black Friday / Cyber Monday special at Alinea. I don't have details as to what items will be available yet. I will have more info by mid-November. We aren't even sure what, if anything, that will be available. The idea came when a few of us thought it might be fun to have a sale during our holiday hiatus from family get-togethers. So, even if it's not much, we would love to see what we can get up and going. The December topic will be

Scrapbooking, Design, and Photography. The first class is on Saturday, January 13th. I wanted to let you know that we are excited about the Christmas Holidays. A couple of us have family in the Palm Desert area.
We are looking forward to seeing them and meeting up with them over the holidays. I hope we'll be seeing you around over the holidays and on through the New Year.

Thank you so much for all
